Showcase for Donated Artwork

Tatiana Soteropoulos

Dean Goodman attended an exhibition at the Alfa Art Gallery in New Brunswick where he met and spoke with featured artist Tatiana Soteropoulos. Tatiana is a Greek-Cypriot artist who studied as a Fulbright Scholar at the Columbus College of Art and Design.

Vesselin Kourtev, director of the gallery, and Tatiana generously donated the piece, "For the breath of life is in the sunlight and the hand of life is in the wind" from her exhibit to Rutgers. Dean Goodman graciously accepted on behalf of the University.

Carole Krinsky

Another artist exhibiting at Alfa Art Gallery, Carole Krinsky is a self taught artist using pointillism techniques in her paintings. She paints mostly with dots and circles using bright color acrylics and large canvas.

Ms. Krinsky comments on her donated piece, "Inner Harmony":

"I am a runner, triathlete and a proponent for the benefits of staying healthy and eating right. To me, good health is a balance of many things. By using the right combination, we have the power to strengthen our body and mind both on the inside and out. If it is true that we are what we eat, then inner beauty is a result of this careful balance. The right substance and flow will influence the beauty that keeps all things working together in harmony. This painting represents the colorful, beautiful balance that can flow inside of us."
